DEFENSE IN BEVARD HEARING ENDEAVORS TO PROVE AN ALIBI

Mayor Crilly's Court Room is Again Crowded With Interested Listeners

Relatives of the Prisoner Testified In Levi Bevard's
Behalf—Attempt Made To Show That Eva Werts
Had Made Threats Against Her Grandmother, and That She Kept a Club In the House—State Finished Its Testimony Last Night.

It was shortly after eight o'clock when the people began to stream into the court room in the city building. The interest in the Werts murder case did not die during the night, after Eva Werts had testified. Many of those who composed the compact audience in the court room, spent two hours waiting patiently until the case should be called for hearing.

Again the same faces seen in the room Thursday morning and afternoon were standing while others were able to get the small portion of a seat either on the arm of another's chair or on the smallest end of one of the benches.

In order to make the room more comfortable the seats were so placed that the people in the halls could not press forward and crowd into the room. This helped matters somewhat and the cool weather helped to make the situation more comfortable.

Promptly at 10 o'clock the court was called to order and the first witness put on the stand for the defense. All through the morning session, which lasted but an hour and a half, the work of the defense was to prove an alibi. An attempt was made also to show that the girl, Eva Werts, had made threats against her grandmother and that she kept a club in the house. This club, it was alleged, was to be used in an assault on Jim Werts, the husband of the murdered woman.

The defense tried to prove by Alexander Bevard, father of the defendant, that the club which was kept in the house was the same which was used in the assault upon Mrs. Werts, but the witness became confused and finally decided that the club which Eva had was but two feet long, while that used in the kitchen on the night of the murder was over three feet in length.

William Bevard, a brother of the defendant, was called and sworn. The witness stated that his brother, Levi, was born in Palo Alto county, Iowa. Both of the Bevard boys came to Newark from the west in August, 1903. The witness stated that the defendant was 29 years old. He stated that Levi Bevard was never in court before on a charge of any kind. Both worked for Casper Bowers upon their return to Licking county, and later worked for William Hall, west of the city. The witness later went to Crestline where he lived until called to Newark by the death of his aunt, Mrs. Frances Werts.

On cross examination Bevard testified that Levi lived at the Werts home for a month before he married Rosa Werts. The witness stated that Mrs. Werts would not speak to Levi after the marriage.

Alexander Bevard, father of the defendant took the stand. The witness is past 84 years old and is in feeble health. He was led to the stand by two policemen and was so feeble that his hands and limbs shook violently while being sworn. His voice was so feeble that the court could hardly hear his testimony. The old gentleman stated that on one of his visits to the Werts home, Eva exhibited a club which she said she was going to use to kill "Old Jim" Werts, (the murdered woman's husband).

She said "We've drove him off, and if he comes back I'll kill him." The witness stated that about two weeks before the murder he heard Eva say that she would knock Aunt Dier's (Mrs. Werts) brains out if she attempted to whip her again.

The aged man told of his feeble health and how he spent the night at the foot of his son's bed that he might easily awaken him, being unable to help himself. He stated that on the night of the murder Levi was away, but returned about 8 o'clock, accompanied by Steve. He testified that he arose on several occasions during the night and each time was helped by his son Levi. He stated that during the night Steve went to the barn to look after a sick horse. This was shortly after going to bed on the night before the murder.

On the cross examination Prosecutor Fitzgibbon succeeded in drawing from the witness that his mind was not exactly clear as to the dates of the conversation at the Werts house. The aged man told the prosecutor that Steven Bevard retired several hours before he (Alexander Bevard) went to bed. He did not know whether or not Steven got up again during the night. John Baird, a blacksmith, was called and testified that Levi Bevard came to his place Wednesday night, leaving for home before supper. The witness could not say whether Levi went directly home, but stated that he turned onto Church street from Fifth after leaving the blacksmith shop.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

Arthur Powell, a gardner, residing a short distance east of the defendant on the Granville road, was the first witness called by the defense during the afternoon session. Powell stated that he saw Levi and his brother Stephen driving towards their home about 6 o'clock on the evening before the murder. Powell stated that he saw Bevard on the morning of the murder going east in a buggy on the Granville road. The witness thought the couple were going to the scene of the tragedy having just been apprised of the murder. Mr. Powell testified that Bevard bore a good reputation among the neighbors in the community where he lives.

Cora Powell, daughter of Arthur Powell, was sworn. She stated that she informed Mrs. Bevard of the death of her mother. She stated that the two went to the field where Levi was working and told him of the murder. The witness stated that the news appeared to be a severe shock to both Levi Bevard and his wife.

John Thomas testified that he saw the defendant at his home on the evening previous to the death of Mrs. Werts. He has known Levi Bevard for 15 months, since he has lived on the Hall farm. The witness added nothing to the testimony already heard.

Mary Thomas, sister of John Thomas, corroborated the testimony given by her husband.

Stephen Bevard, a younger brother of Levi Bevard, stated that he had boarded with Levi Bevard about a month. He was employed at the Wehrle foundry on the day the tragedy occurred. He met Levi on Eleventh street on Wednesday evening before the murder and after visiting Baird's blacksmith shop he returned with Levi. He told of getting up at midnight on the night of the tragedy to care for a sick horse. He testified that Levi was in bed when he came back to the house. Stephen took breakfast next morning with Levi, Rosa and the aged father of the two boys.

The witness told the Prosecutor on cross-examination that he was 23 years old. Levi and Stephen took positions at the Wehrle foundry for two weeks. Levi, Steve the father and William kept bachelor quarters in a log house near the Werts home before the marriage of Levi and Rosa.

Witness stated that he never received $2 or any like sum from his grandmother, Mrs. Werts. He admitted having received a letter from his aunt, Mrs. Werts, telling him to settle a note at the bank and threatening prosecution unless the matter was settled. He stated that the note was drawn and signed at the home of Mrs. Werts and that Mrs. Werts inserted her mark with a lead pencil. The witness in his confusion stated that the note was signed with an indelible pencil, but later stated that it was a fountain pen. He stated that he signed his name to the document at the Peoples bank. The note is dated January 12, 1905, and was paid June 13, 1905, twelve days after the tragedy.

Stephen stated Levi wore a black soft hat on the days preceding the tragedy, the derby which he wore for several weeks before, was thrown away upon purchasing the soft hat. Witness stated that he had no transaction about a $25 note. Never took a buggy ride with Eva Werts on any occasion.

Mary Hoover Friday afternoon testified that Eva Werts' reputation for veracity was not the best; she would hardly like to believe her under oath.

At 2 o'clock the mayor adjourned court until 9 o'clock Saturday.

Where is the stranger, Jake Boyer, who it is claimed, lived in the barn on the Wesley Wright farm for several weeks previous to the Frances Werts murder? (Continued on Page 2, 3rd Col.)

TWENTY PLANTS TO BE MERGED

DEAL FOR BIG COMBINATION WHICH INCLUDES THE NEW ARK FACTORY.

The Jewett Car Works Will Continue to Grow and to Prosper Under the New Conditions.

A message from St. Louis, printed below, tells of the progress that is being made towards merging the big car manufacturing plants of the United States. The merger which is about to be effected will include the Jewett plant as announced in this paper some time ago.

The merger will result in strengthening and enlarging the Newark factory. Some building is now being done at this plant and this improvement was started after the merger was under way. This shows that instead of the combination resulting in closing the Newark plant, it will continue its growth. The Jewett plays an important part in Newark's prosperity.

St. Louis, Mo., June 23.—A deal involving the merging of the 20 leading car manufacturing plants of the United States, including the Jewett Car company of Newark, Ohio, under one central management, and representing a total of $50,000,000 capital, has been practically closed.

President George J. Kobusch of the St. Louis Car company, has been prominent in negotiations, which have been under way for several months, and the company of which he is the head is the largest individual concern going into the consolidation.

The negotiations have been principally carried on, however, through James Stewart, of the St. Louis firm of James Stewart & Co., who is now said to be in the East closing the final details of the deal, and it was through him that options on the various car manufacturing plants in the leading cities were obtained. The majority of these options expire July 1, but there is a privilege of extension for six months beyond that date. The outlook now is, however, that all the details of the great consolidation scheme will have been perfected by the time and the union of the companies will go into effect simultaneously with the expiration of these options.

The central organization will have control of the combined plants, practically purchasing the various individual plants, the present owners and management in many instances retaining an interest in the stock of the consolidated companies.

Among the car manufacturing companies expected to be included in the consolidation are the following: St. Louis Car company of St. Louis; American Car company of St. Louis; Jewett Car company of Newark, O.; Niles Car company of Niles, Ohio; Kuhlman Car company of Cleveland; McGuire-Cummings Car company of Paris, Ill.; Cincinnati Car company of Cincinnati; Brill Car company of Philadelphia; Stevenson Car company of Elizabeth, N. J.; Wasson Manufacturing company of Springfield, Mass.; the Bradley company of Newburyport, Conn.; Jones & Co., of Troy, N. Y.; Beckham Manufacturing company of Kingston, N. Y.; McGuire Car Manufacturing company of Chicago; Lacombe Car company of Laconia, N. H.

HOYT WILL CASE

Tiffin Minister Today Testifies That the Late Mrs. Hoyt Was Devout Church Woman.

Tiffin, O., June 23.—In the Hoyt will contest case today T. J. Kintz, Mrs. Hoyt's banker, testified that the will now in controversy was placed in a safety deposit box in his bank where it was found after her death and it was wrapped with certificates of her marriage to Morris Steinhilber of Chicago, in 1887, and to Reuben M. Hertz, New York, in 1901. Rev. John M. Hyslop of Tiffin, testified that Mrs. Hoyt was a very devout church woman and was sane.

TROUBLE MAY SPREAD.

Columbus, June 23.—Secretaries of the State Board of Agriculture, who have been in Newark trying to adjust the stove works strike, express the fear that the trouble may spread.

Berlin, June 23.—Vorwarts, the principal organ of the social democrats, asserts that Prince Von Buelow has asked the headquarters staff whether Germany is prepared to go to war with France in case the present crisis brought on over the Moroccan question develops unfavorably.

St. Petersburg, June 23.—It is stated authoritatively that a new international loan is being perfected.

EQUITABLE

RECEIVES ATTENTION OF GOV.
HIGGINS AND MR. JEROME.

August Belmont Tenders His Resignation as Director—District Attorney May Make an Inquiry.

New York, June 23.—District Attorney Jerome has begun an official investigation of the affairs of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. This morning he asked Recorder Goff in court of general sessions that the June term be continued indefinitely that he might have the aid and advice of the court in connection with the investigation he proposed to make of the Equitable affairs. He stated he had already arranged with Justice Davy to continue the June term of the criminal branch of the supreme court for a similar reason. The motion was granted.

Julius Meyer, attorney general of the state, began preparations today to bring suits against the officers of the Equitable for recovery of the profits alleged to have been wrongfully acquired by reason of their position.

Albany, N. Y., June 23.—That Governor Higgins regards the report of Insurance Superintendent Hendricks upon the Equitable Life Assurance society as worthy of the attention of the criminal authorities of New York county was made plain by him when he broke his silence on the subject of the Equitable situation by a reference to the commandment, "Thou shalt not steal," as having been among the laws violated by the management of the insurance company, and by the announcement that he had sent a copy of the report to District Attorney Jerome.

New York, June 23.—Following the publication of the report of Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks as to the affairs of the Equitable Life Assurance society, came the statement that District Attorney Jerome of New York county has undertaken an inquiry into the conduct of the society. August Belmont has tendered his resignation as director of the Equitable.

DECEMBER 8

DATE NOW FIXED FOR DEATH OF
MRS. MARY ROGERS.

Third Time She Has Been Saved
Through Operation of Governor's Power.

Brattleboro, Vt., June 23.—A reprieve until Dec 8 for Mrs. Mary M. Rogers, the condemned murderess, was signed by Governor Charles J. Bell, and for the third time the woman, who was to have been hanged at Windsor for killing her husband, has been saved through the operation of the governor's power of staying the execution. The latest reprieve was granted in order that the case may be carried to the supreme court of the United States on constitutional questions, which were raised at a hearing before Judge Hoyt H. Wheeler, sitting as a justice of the United States circuit court. Mrs. Rogers' attorneys petitioned for her release on a writ of habeas corpus. The scaffold, which had been ready for the execution of Mrs. Rogers, was taken down.

To Boycott American Goods.
Island of Peking Straits Settlement, June 23.—The Chinese are convening a meeting here to discuss the adoption of a boycott of American manufactures until the Chinese exclusion act is repealed. It is said the Chinese of the Malay states probably will follow.

RIOTING AT LODZ

Warsaw, June 23.—Meagre reports from Lodz say that rioting has been in progress there for several days. Conditions are regarded as very serious.

Rev. Dr. Herbert Welsh, until recently pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at New York, N. Y., was formally installed as president of the Ohio Wesleyan university.

NEGRO ARRESTED AT MARTINSBURG

CLIFFORD ATTEMPTED TO IN-JURE A LITTLE CHILD AGED FIVE.

William Hancock Swears Out Affidavit
Against Fellow Held in Mt.
Vernon Jail.

Martinsburg, O., June 23.—There was much excitement in this little Knox county town last night preceding the arrest of William Clifford, aged 21 years on the charge of attempting the injury of five year old Alice Hancock, daughter of William Hancock of this place. Clifford is the son of Washington Clifford, and belongs to the only colored family in Martinsburg.

The little girl was not injured by the negro according to the testimony of Mrs. Lewis and Toland, but when the child's father learned that his daughter had been at Clifford's house he started up town after Clifford. He found the young man at Allen's barber shop and assaulted him with a chair, but the fellow was taken away and held until Deputy Sheriff Graham arrived from Mt. Vernon. There was some talk of lynching last night, but the fact that the little girl was not injured and as Clifford was promptly removed from town, the village soon assumed its normal condition.

Mt. Vernon, O., June 23.—Officer Graham who was called to Martinsburg at 8:30 last night returned at 11 o'clock with Wm. Clifford. Today the charge of attempted criminal assault was preferred against the prisoner by Wm. Hancock of Martinsburg. To the Advocate correspondent the prisoner made some damaging admissions, but during the conversation the prisoner showed that his mental condition is not the best.

Some decidedly sensational stories were telegraphed out of Mt. Vernon last night, one report alleging that the child, almost unconscious, was just able to crawl back to her home. The Advocate correspondent here is told that the little girl fortunately was not injured.

CITY BUYS A HOTEL.

Tampa, Fla., June 23.—Something new in municipal ownership was inaugurated yesterday when the city of Tampa paid the Ocean and Gulf Realty company of New York, $125,000 cash for the Tampa Bay hotel and grounds, becoming sole owner of the property upon which the late Henry B. Plant spent $2,000,000. The city will use the grounds as a park and leave the hotel.

BOUNTY TOO SMALL.

City of Mexico, June 23.—Twenty-three deaths have resulted within 20 days from scorpion bites in the city of Durango. The state offers one cent bounty for each dead scorpion, but not many insects are found.

MUST SERVE FOURTEEN YEARS FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Rochester, N. Y., June 23.—Ervin M. Smith, convicted of manslaughter in the second degree in killing his sweet heart, Cora Hart, was sentenced this morning to serve 14 years and nine months in Auburn prison. Both were of well to do families. The young woman's throat was cut after a quarrel.

ROBBED OF JEWELS

Under Guise of Telephone Inspectors
Two Men Robbed New York Lawyer of Valuable Gems.

New York, June 23.—Under the guise of telephone inspectors two men are reported to have robbed the country home of a prominent corporation lawyer doing business in New York and Boston. Diamonds and other jewelry of the value of $25,000, but of incalculable value as heirlooms, were secured by the thieves. A reward of $1,000 was offered for information leading to the recovery of the jewelry.

GIRL FATALLY HURT IN LAUNDRY TODAY

Washington, Ind., June 23.—Jesse Gillson, 18, employed in a steam laundry here, was caught on a rapidly revolving shaft this morning and was being whirled to death when Lizzie Stirling, a laundry girl, ran to the scene and stopped the machinery. Miss Gillson's collarbone was broken, her shoulder dislocated and arm broken and her chest and head crushed. She cannot recover.

Rev. Charles C. Denny, is a pastor of great worship with a large congregation.

Williams, college, Westminster, Mass., conferred on President Roosevelt the degree of doctor of laws.

HOMER WOMAN FORCED TO HAND $85 OVER TO A BOLD ROBBER

Indignant Citizens Send to Dayton for Pair of Bloodhounds Friday.

Residence of Mr. Butcher Entered Early Thursday Morning After Man Had Started To Work—
Masked Man Pointed Pistol at Defenseless Wqman, and Made Her Turn Over All the Money She Had.

Sheriff Redman was notified of the Homer robbery early Friday morning, and at 7:30 o'clock he wired to Dayton for bloodhounds as requested by residents of Homer. No reply was received within a reasonable time and the officer telephoned to Dayton. At 2:20 p. m he got in communication with the owner of the dogs who promised to leave at 6 o'clock on the Panhandle train for Newark, arriving here about 9:30 o'clock. Arrangements have been made with James Mills to take the dogs to Homer in an automobile as soon as they reach Newark.

Homer, O., June 23.—During the past few months the northern portion of Licking county and the southern part of Knox county have gained an unenviable reputation for the many holdups, burglaries, and even murder that has been committed, and the law-ed by a man standing over her with a big revolver in one hand and a dark lantern in the other. At the point of the revolver he demanded all the money in the house, and threatened Mrs. Butcher with her life in case she refused to accede to his demands. Mrs. Butcher, who was badly frightened, and fearing for the lives of her two little children, gave the man $85, all the money she had. The robber, after again threatening her in case she made any noise, quickly left the house and disappeared. She describes the man as being quite tall, wearing a black slouch hat and a mask.

The burglar had gained entrance to the house by means of a side window, and from indications had ransacked the place most completely in search of loot. He was unable to gain entrance to the room in which Mrs. Butcher and the children were sleeping from the fact the door of the room was locked. This, how-

Mrs. Warren Butcher of Homer, this county, was held up by a robber Friday morning, and was forced to hand over $85 or suffer death.

abiding people of that section are becoming alarmed over the situation, as crime of all sorts is rampant. Only recently Sheriff Shellenbarger of Knox county, was seriously wounded at the hands of a desperado, which was quickly followed by the murder of Mrs. Frances L. Werts, at her home a few miles north of Newark.

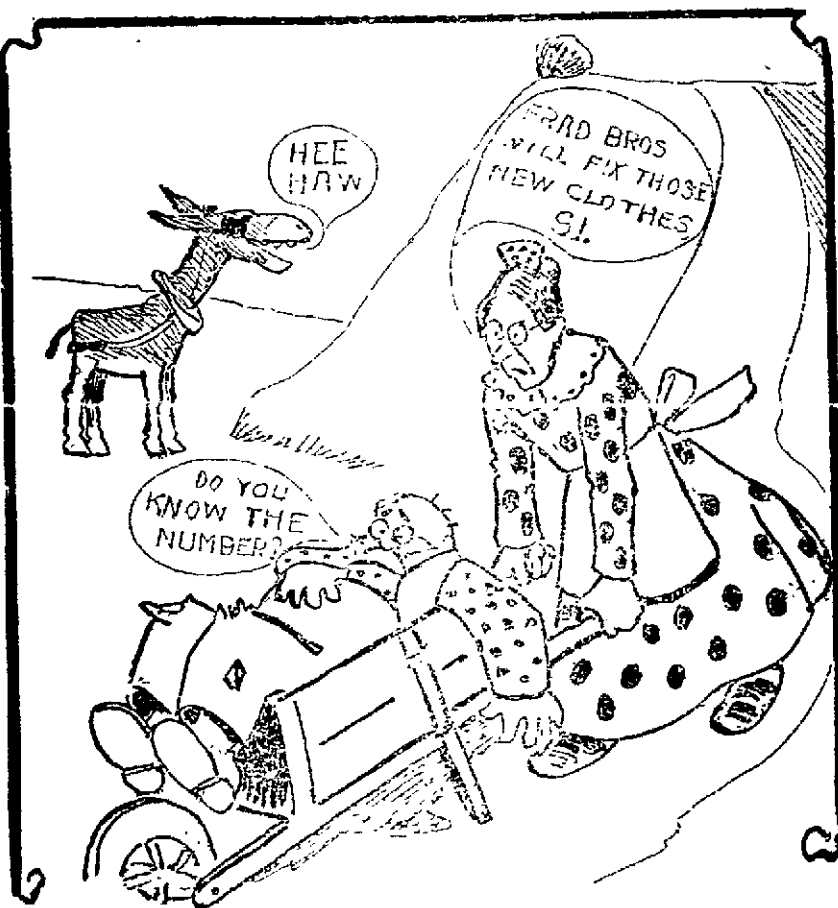

Thursday night, or rather early this morning, one of the boldest and most fiendish crimes that has ever taken place in this quiet village, was committed. Mr. Warren Butcher, of this place, who is the engineer at the pumping station, left his wife and two little children quietly sleeping at their home, and went to his work. Some time after he had left his home, Mrs. Butcher was awaken-ever, did not deter him from his object, as he effected an entrance by tearing out a portion of the partition wall.

Mrs. Butcher, as soon as she had recovered from the shock produced by the visit of the burglar, and was convinced that the man had left the premises, gave the alarm, and in a short time a large number of the villagers were engaged in searching for the robber, but no trace of him could be found. A meeting of the villagers was then had and a subscription was immediately raised and the Dayton bloodhounds were wired for. The people in Homer and vicinity are greatly excited, and should the person who perpetrated the dastardly deed be apprehended it will go hard with him.

BEVARD HEARING.

murder? The defense is evidently endeavoring to cast the suspicion in this direction. The actions of the aged man would indicate that he was mentally unbalanced and it is known that Mrs. Werts, the murdered woman, feared the man. Not because of his actions towards her but that she disliked to have the man running at large around the neighborhood. The defense intimates that Boyer has not been seen since the crime and that he might have an intimate knowledge of the same.

BIG SHEPHERD DOG

Figures in the Werts Case—Murderer Was Well Acquainted With the Animal.

The big black shepherd dog, the faithful animal which has been in the Werts family for perhaps ten years, promises to be an important figure in the trial. The prosecution is using the animal to prove that the perpetrator of the crime was one who was well acquainted with the animal.

The testimony heard so far would indicate that the animal was of a vicious disposition and that but few strangers could approach the house with safety. Coroner Legge's testimony is all that had contradicted this fact. The dog's actions when the coroner entered the house would indicate that he was timid. Yet Charles Hoover stated that he was afraid of the animal, even though he was a frequent visitor at the home.

STATE'S EVIDENCE

Prosecution Satisfied With Developments—Star Witness Behaved Well on the Stand.

The state finished its presentation of evidence in the Levi Bevard hearing Thursday evening and at that time Prosecutor Fitzgibbon expressed his satisfaction with the day's proceedings. Eva Werts, the star witness had behaved admirably upon the stand. The little girl told exactly the same story related on the morning of the tragedy with the exception that at that time she did not accuse Bevard of the crime. The girl explains this by saying Bevard had threatened her life if she accused him.

Aside from the direct charge against Bevard made by the girl, whose testimony was not shaken upon cross-examination, the state showed the ill feeling between Bevard and the murdered woman and brought out evidence showing that Bevard had not accounted for a sum of money given by Mrs. Werts to her daughter, Bevard's wife. Stress was laid upon Bevard's actions on the morning following the murder.

Eva Werts' story of the crime and her reasons for suspecting her cousin Levi Bevard has been told in a straightforward manner. Yet many express the opinion that she has not told all she knows of the case. Attorney B. C. Smythe succeeded in making the girl partially admit that she walked or ran around the house to wards the kitchen after she jumped from the top of the little veranda.

Mrs. John Schimp testified that Eva Werts told her that she thought it was one of the family who killed Mrs. Werts. This was told to Mrs. Schimp before the officers arrived. It was then too, that she told that she was afraid to say who it was. This testimony was corroborated by the woman's husband, John Schimp, who, with two other neighbors went to the house with the girl as soon as possible after the deed was committed. He stated that the girl described the man as being tall. The prisoner is a very tall man.

Charles Hoover, the neighbor who was well acquainted with the Werts family told of the conversation he had with Eva on the morning of the tragedy and she told him of her suspicions. In each and every case the girl stated that she thought it was Levi Bevard who was in the kitchen.

Coroner Legge's testimony differed but little from the story which was given in the newspapers at the time. His description of the actions of the dog, however seemed to shatter the idea that the animal was a vicious one. The dog was in an upstairs room when the coroner entered the house and it was with difficulty that he was induced to approach the officers, all of whom were strangers.

FEW DEVELOPMENTS

Brought Out on First Day of Bevard Hearing—The State Rested on Thursday Evening.

The first day's work in the Bevard hearing had but few results as far as the development of new facts in the case goes. The letter introduced, which Eva Werts recognized as having been written by her, bore no date. Eva declares that the note to which she referred in the letter was one which was given by her grandmother some time previous to the murder. The witness also declares that she did not write the figures "$16" but that an erasure has been made and these figures substituted for "$25", the amount of the note.

The fact that Eva told a few minutes after the tragedy, after she had been admitted to the Schimp home that a "blood relation" had committed the crime for revenge, is considered a good point for the state.

Coroner Legge testified during the afternoon but no new evidence was brought out. The story which Eva told the coroner on the morning after the terrible murder was similar to that told to the newspaper men afterwards, but to the coroner she stated that she suspected Levi.

During the afternoon, Attorney B. G. Smythe was joined by his son, Phil B. Smythe, who will be associated with his father in the case.

It was after 2:30 o'clock when Mrs. John Schimp took the stand. It was to Mrs. Schimp's home that Eva ran after jumping from the upstairs window. The witness lived on the corner of a mile northwest of the Werts house since last April. She had never seen Mrs. Werts until after the woman's death. She had a slight acquaintance with Eva Werts. Eva came to the Schimp home and pounded on a window and called, "Some one has broken into the house and is killing grand mal!"

Mr. Schimp let the girl in. She had on underwear and skirt. No shoes or stockings were worn. The girl looked frightened. Mr. Schimp said: "Who was it?" Eva replied: "A blood relation." Eva told her story while Mr. Schimp was getting ready. She said that the crime was done for revenge. She told later that Steve Bevard had forged a note.

Mr. Smythe on cross-examination questioned the witness but her testimony remained as first given.

Shortly before 3 o'clock John Schimp, husband of the last witness, was called and sworn. Knew Eva Werts by sight. His testimony was similar to that given by Mrs. Schimp. The witness recognized the voice of the girl before she was let into the house. The girl looked frightened and could hardly talk when she came into the house.

On cross-examination Mr. Schimp stated that none of the party who went to the house after the alarm entered for fear the murderer was armed. The witness was excused and Henry Foster was called.

The witness proved to be the wrong man and after a few questions Prosecutor Fitzgibbon excused the man. Attorney Smythe questioned Mr. Foster but nothing additional was learned from his testimony. His father, Henry Foster, Sr., was the man wanted, but he was not subpoenaed.

Charles Hoover, a farmer, residing one mile southeast of the Werts home. He had known Frances Werts all his life. He was slightly acquainted with Eva Werts. He knew the dog to be vicious and feared him. The dog barked and made considerable demonstration on several occasions.

On Saturday before the tragedy Mrs. Werts gave Mr. Hoover a letter from the Peoples Bank. The letter was a notice that a note was at the bank signed by Frances Werts and Stephen Bevard for $10. He stated that she did not sign the note. Mrs. Werts asked Mr. Hoover to write to Stephen telling him to settle within five days or she would file an affidavit and have him arrested. The letter was written in the presence of Eva Werts who signed it for Mrs. Werts. The letter was placed in an envelope and addressed to Steve Bevard.

On the day after murder Eva started to Newark with Mr. Hoover. He advised the girl to tell the truth. She stated that she knew it was not Steve. Eva told how easily she had worsted Steve in a friendly tussle, but stated that she and her grandmother, by their combined efforts, could not force the door open and she knew it was not he. Eva told Hoover that she thought it was Levi who killed Mrs. Werts. Hoover conferred with William Bevard when the latter called on him a few days ago. Hoover stated that he was, at the instance of the husband James Werts, appointed administrator to the state.

Dr. Carey F. Legge, coroner, was called and sworn. The witness in his testimony stated that the various doors of the house were barred. The Coroner described the wounds in the head of the murdered woman. He stated that the fracture of the frontal bone was sufficient to cause death, when attended by a hemorrhage as it was in this case. Found dog in south west room and the club was found in northwest room. Club was covered with brain and blood. Found lantern on bureau. The top drawer was open.

Attorney Smythe's cross-examination developed the fact that Eva stated to Coroner Legge that she was afraid to tell who killed Mrs. Werts. That she was afraid of her life.

Several times during the afternoon the court was compelled to call for order. Finally the people were warned that unless the room was quiet, every one would be ordered from the room.

OPEN SWITCH

Caused Wreck at Mentor—Story That a Lunatic Caused the Frightful Disaster.

Cleveland, June 23.—State Railroad Commissioner Morris today announced after an investigation with his assistants that the Lake Shore wreck at Mentor was caused by an open switch.

"Some one set the switch just an instant before the engine reached it," he said. Railroad officials are investigating circumstantial evidence that a lunatic, believed to be a lad or young man, tampered with the switch. The coroner's investigation is under way. Fireman Gorham will recover.

SUCCESSFUL CROOKS

Who Evade Detection and Cover Up Their Operations by Leading Double Lives.

"Every crook will tell you," said a detective sergeant to the Kansas City Star, "that the successful criminal is not only characterized by deeds of daring and audacity, but that he is pretty sure to cover his burglaries, swindles or forgeries, as the case may be, by living a sort of double life. If possible, he will live in a neighborhood where about the only occupation of the policeman is to flirt with the servant girls. He will even go to the extent of attending the neighboring church and win great popularity among the congregation by his effort to improve the minds and morals of his fellow creatures."

"Take the case of a certain man who lived in Newark a few years ago and who is now in Trenton prison serving out a sentence for a jewel theft. This man lived in fine style in Newark for a considerable time and frequently drove his own carriage along Ocean avenue at Long Branch. He was regarded as a man of considerable means and the news of his arrest for a series of thefts, which the judge described as deliberate and cruel, fell like a thunderbolt upon his extensive circle of acquaintances, that was quite a fashionable one."

"This man was in the habit of making periodical visits to New York, when he would engage rooms in a high-priced hotel, ransack the bed rooms of the establishment, pawn the stolen articles and then return to Newark, where he lived a life of high respectability until it became necessary to replenish his exchequer again."

"A few years ago the people of Cincinnati were astonished at the arrest of a man who was regarded as one of their most worthy citizens on the charge of committing a burglary. This man had a number of aliases; Thompson was the one he most frequently used. He posed before the public as a retired merchant, and his charitable work gained for him much popularity. But it was when the people of Cincinnati were asleep that he came out in his true character."

"For some time he escaped the police, until a clever detective was successful in tracing him as the perpetrator of numerous burglaries, including a bank robbery, by which Thompson netted about $10,000. With part of the money which he thus obtained he actually founded a private infirmary, which he superintended personally and paid for the maintenance of six old and infirm people. In addition to this also, he was never known to turn a deaf ear to the cry of the needy, and was wont to distribute gifts of money and food with a lavish hand."

"The career of George Dickinson, a notorious burglar, who was sentenced three years ago to 15 years' imprisonment for burglary and attempted murder, furnishes another remarkable example of criminal daring and audacity. Dickinson had previously earned several terms of imprisonment in different states, and two years ago settled in Philadelphia, where, keeping his criminal career a secret, he became a member of a prosperous firm of shirt makers."

"During the day he was a respectable merchant, with a reputation for generosity and good-heartedness, while at midnight he plied his vocation as a burglar. He always wore evening dress while engaged in his nefarious work and conducted his operations in the most stylish and gentlemanly manner. Dickinson was, in fact, a veritable Jekyll and Hyde of real life occupying fashionable apartments and indulging in all the pleasures of the modern aristocrat. During a few months previous to his arrest more than 100 mysterious burglaries occurred in Philadelphia, for many of which Dickinson was believed to be responsible."

Situation at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, June 23.—Frequent conferences were held between Mayor Weaver and his counsel, but thus far they have been followed by no new developments, and neither the mayor nor his counsel will intimate what the next move on their part will be or when it will be made. Mayor Weaver also had a talk with City Controller Walton. City Treasurer Shook and Solicitor Kinsey in reference to the filtration contracts. Announcement was made of the selection of H. D. Parsons of New York, an engineer, to take charge of the investigation of the physical work on the filtration system.

Would Wear Union Button.

Chicago, June 23.—A conspicuous display of the union button, it is said, is all that stands in the way of a settlement of the teamsters' strike. A subcommittee of the striking teamsters' peace committee called on J. V. Farwell, representative of the employers' association, and outlined a basis of settlement. One of the requests of the labor men was that the teamsters should be allowed to wear their union buttons if they agreed to accept the terms of settlement proposed by the employers. Mr. Farwell informed the committee that the employers could never agree to this proposal.

The number of labor disputes in New York in 1932 was 129, not above the average, but in magnitude they exceeded any other recent year, except 1903, the number of workmen directly concerned having been 58,000, as compared with 22,000 in 1901, 31,000 in 1902, and 100,000 in 1903.

INJUNCTION

Sought by Eight Large Banking Institutions in Kentucky.

Frankfort, Ky., June 23.—Attorneys for eight of the largest national banking institutions in Kentucky filed suits in both the federal and state courts here to restrain the Kentucky state board of valuation and assessment from taking into consideration the funds they have invested in government bonds in seeking to arrive at the value of the shares of stock of the banks for the purpose of taxation. They ask an injunction from both courts to restrain the board from trying to collect in excess of $10,432, which they paid into the treasury. The board fixed the amount of taxes of the banks which are plaintiffs at $24,634.

Proposed Glass Factory.
Enthusiasm on the part of the people in the vicinity of Black Hand continues to grow over the prospect of securing the window glass factory, which it is proposed to locate at that point. A large number of lots has been sold, and the indications are that the factory will be established there. A citizens' meeting is to be held at Black Hand on Saturday night, when the matter will be finally determined.

Industrial Edition.
The Urbana Democrat, published by Frank C. Gaumer, last week issued one of the finest industrial and historical editions ever gotten out by a weekly paper in Ohio. The edition was commemorative of Champaign county's centennial celebration as well as the semi-centennial anniversary of the Champaign Democrat as a newspaper. The Democrat has been preaching excellent Democracy to the people for 10, these fifty years, and its golden anniversary is celebrated in connection with the county's celebration in this special edition. The edition consisted of forty pages which completely covered the history of the county and fittingly set forth the advantage of Urbana and Champaign county. The paper is a credit to the publisher and advertises the town better than anything that has transpired during the time that is soon to be celebrated. One of the principal features in the paper was

Story of the Game.

Zanesville, O., June 23.—Zanesville defeated Newark in a one-sided game Thursday afternoon. Score 29 to 6. Batteries—Mill St., Taft and Collins; Clowers, Ryan and Gault. Struck out—by Taft 9, by Ryan 8. Score by innings: Mill St. . . . . 10 1 5 1 3 0 0 0 0—29 Clowers . . . . . 0 1 1 2 1 0 0 0—6

In the fifth inning "Lefty" Snyder was not only put out of the game but off of the grounds by Umpire Somers. Snodgrass secured a hit to right field and attempted to steal second. Blue threw to Kustus and Somers decided the Newark manager out. Snyder protested in rather violent language, and his expulsion followed. The score: Zanesville: ab. r. h. po. a. e. GUN CLUB
Made Good Scores at State Camp

At the Newark Gun club shooting in the state rifle range, west of Newark, the following splendid results were recorded Thursday:

	Targ.	Targ.	Targ.	Pct.
Orr	45	25	24	94
Schaller	41	19	22	82
Burrell	46	20	24	90
Keete	43	22	25	89
Browne	41	21	21	82 1/2
Winice	42	23	21	80 1/2
Berg	40	20	20	80
Mack	40	20	20	80

The main event was a 500 yard match between Orr and Burrell shooting for the Navajo trophy, Burrell winning 46 to 45.

Mr. Burrell will give a banquet to the Newark Gun club tonight at 8:30 at his place of business, 14 West Main street, in honor of the club's winning two state championship medals at Canton last week. All members of the club are invited to attend.

WHEN MAN RENTS
A HOUSE.
No Trouble At All, Unless His Wife Goes With Him.

"Yes, I've rented a house," he said with an accent of finality. "She gets here Tuesday, you see, and I couldn't put it off any longer, and it's a dandy."

"Is that so?" asked the listener. "Tell me about it."

"A reception hall," said he, waving his hand. "It has a cedar chest in it."

"Cedar chest?" questioned the mystified listener.

"Yes, a long cedar chest; now I know she will like that," said the enthusiastic husband, his eye beaming. "It's carved and has a heavy lid."

"An oaken settee," thought his listener.

"You ought to see the chandelier in the dining room," he went on, "it has four lights that go up and four down, something like flowers, you know, and in the middle is a large red shade, round and pretty, and is either for gas or electric light."

"Is there a china closet there?" asked the woman, who is a practical soul.

"Didn't notice," said he, "but in the kitchen there is a white sink, and right by the kitchen is a place where you slide back a cover and there are stationary washbasins."

"Bravo!" mentally ejaculated his listener, "there is one man who notices washbasins."

"Is there a gas range," she asked aloud.

"Oh, there's a cookstove," said he airily. "You ought to see the chandelier in the parlor, it is a beauty. And upstairs there is an inlaid mirror in the front room. I know she'll like that."

"You are right there," said the lady. "Does the house front north or south? Is the plumbing good and how about the neighborhood?"

"Didn't notice," said he, "but the banisters are very pretty and there is a stained glass window in the bath-room."

Mem: "Men do love appearances," thought the woman, mentally inscribing it in her intellectual notebook. "Pretty fixtures are what they notice, and nothing else."

"Do you think she will like it?" he asked anxiously.

"Oh, I'm sure she will," replied the treacherous listener, "inlaid cedar chest in hall, pretty chandeliers and banisters, a mirror and stained glass window, cookstove and washbasins, now I tell you, nobody could want more in a house."

"I thought so," smiled the man throwing out his chest. "Women make such a fuss over these things; now there is really no trouble in renting a house at all. Why it is the first place I went to, and in ten minutes I had told the agent I would take it. Nice man, the agent, too."

"I imagine he was," said the woman smiling, "and he liked you, too. I fancy."

"Oh, we got along capitally," said the man, stroking his mustache—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Story of the Game.

Zanesville, O., June 23.—Zanesville defeated Newark in a one-sided game Thursday afternoon. Score 29 to 6. Batteries—Mill St., Taft and Collins; Clowers, Ryan and Gault. Struck out—by Taft 9, by Ryan 8. Score by innings: Mill St. . . . . 10 1 5 1 3 0 0 0 0—29 Clowers . . . . . 0 1 1 2 1 0 0 0—6

In the fifth inning "Lefty" Snyder was not only put out of the game but off of the grounds by Umpire Somers. Snodgrass secured a hit to right field and attempted to steal second. Blue threw to Kustus and Somers decided the Newark manager out. Snyder protested in rather violent language, and his expulsion followed. The score: Zanesville: ab. r. h. po. a. e. "Is that so?" asked the listener. "Tell me about it."

"A reception hall," said he, waving his hand. "It has a cedar chest in it."

"Cedar chest?" questioned the mystified listener.

"Yes, a long cedar chest; now I know she will like that," said the enthusiastic husband, his eye beaming. "It's carved and has a heavy lid."

"An oaken settee," thought his listener.

"You ought to see the chandelier in the dining room," he went on, "it has four lights that go up and four down, something like flowers, you know, and in the middle is a large red shade, round and pretty,

Abuse of the Veto.

One of the central ideas in connection with the foundation of the state and national governments was the separateness of the various departments to keep clear and distinct within their own particular and peculiar spheres the legislative, the executive and the judicial branches. The encroachment of one upon the other, any mixing or blending of these several prerogatives, has always been viewed as being but little less than usurpation. It was a theory originally held with entire propriety that to endow the executive with the power of vetoing legislation was in fact to blend the functions of the executive and the legislative departments. This theory obtained in Ohio for nearly three-quarters of a century and the first man to exercise the veto power and in whose hands it was placed as a weapon in all that time was Governor Myron T. Herrick.

The veto has its uses and its abuses. Its abuse by Herrick has been notorious and flagrant. In the hands of a man skilled in statecraft it might have been used with most beneficent results. Governor Herrick, disregarding all the proprieties of his position, ignoring the fundamental theory of republican government, that the executive should not become a common meddler in matters of legislation, used the veto as a weapon, threatened the legislative branch of the government and was the author of a condition of confusion and chaos never before known in Ohio. Instead of permitting bills to come to him through their proper channel, the governor and his kitchen cabinet would summon representatives and senators in star chamber session and behind closely drawn blinds and barred doors would tell them what the republican machine demanded. Chief executives, whether of the nation or the states, wait until measures reach them and then it a veto is to be made, give proper reasons for it, and in the literature of veto legislation some of the wisest precepts of government have been promulgated for the benefit of the whole people. Has any one ever seen any of Mr. Herrick's veto messages? Has any one ever heard of any reason that he ever assigned for vetoing any bill or measure? Has he ever acted upon any other principle or motive than that of expediency or bowed to any other decree than that of Boss Cox or Senator Dick? These are some of the questions that will embarrass the governor during the ensuing campaign.

Why should not the people of Ohio be entitled to the services of some man like Judge Samuel M. Hunter in the chair of chief executive of the state? He is well acquainted with all the powers, duties and prerogatives of each and every department of this state. No mistake would be made either in his nomination or his election. He would neither be a common meddler nor the creature of any machine. He would administer the affairs of this state, not in the interests of any clique, but for the whole people. Voters of Ohio have grown tired of tools. They demand in the governorship a man who will conserve and protect their interests and their welfare. The day of deliverance is at hand and the Democracy of Ohio will do well to heed to the omens, that portend victory in November.

SCORED BY BRYAN

Is Roosevelt For Absolving Paul Morton From Prosecution.

Lincoln, Neb., June 23.—W. J. Bryan in the Commoner this week sharply criticised the decision of President Roosevelt's administration to absolve Paul Morton from prosecution for alleged connection with the illegal granting of rebates while president of the Santa Fe railroad. Bryan refers to the recommendation of Judges Harmon and Johnson, who investigated the Santa Fe's rebate system, in which they advised a prosecution. He made the following comment:

"Of course, the attorney general has a perfect right to disapprove the recommendations, but a good many people will be curious to know what rule exempts a conspicuous personage like Paul Morton from prosecution for the plainly admitted violation of law. When a man of influence violates a law, there is no place for a wrangling in the office charged with the duty of enforcing the law. The people are not given a square deal when a man is permitted to escape punishment for his misdeeds simply because he happens to occupy a conspicuous position in the councils of the political organization immediately in control of public affairs."

"If there is any good reason why the law should not take its course in the case of Paul Morton, Mr. Roosevelt should make that reason known to the public, as Mr. Harmon says, 'there should be no mystery about what has become of the matter.' The people want to know the truth, and the whole truth. They have a right to know whether the refusal to prosecute Paul Morton for his confessed violation of law squares with Mr. Roosevelt's proclamations from the stump."

TARGET PRACTICE

Boys of Fourth Regiment Here Next Month Are to Have Plenty Of It in Camp.

Columbus, June 23.—Lieu. Col. D. L. Bargar and other officers of the Fourth regiment, O. N. G., have completed arrangements for taking the regiment into summer camp at the State Rifle Range near Newark, Sunday, July 16. The militiamen will be in camp a week. Colonel Bargar said that nearly all the time will be taken up in rifle practice. One battalion will be on the range all the time during the days.

He said: "Each officer and enlisted man will be expected to take part in this practice and we hope to turn out a large group of marksmen. We have, for a year past, been grounding them in the theory. We have given them a special course in rifle practice and that preparation and their gallery practice should develop many good shots. The recent work has been intended to fit the men for out door service. They are now in good shape for it."

EAGLES' PICNIC.

Arrangements are being made by Newark Aerie, No. 237, Fraternal Order of Eagles of this city for a grand picnic to be held at Idlewild Park on Thursday, June 29. Aeries from Zanesville, Coshocton, Columbus, Mt. Vernon and Lancaster have been invited to participate in the festivities and will be here on that date. There will be all kinds of amusements and prizes to the amount of $500 will be given away. It is expected that this will be one of the grandest times ever had by the Eagles in Central Ohio.

TAMPED WITH SWITCH

Boy Believed to Have Caused Wreck of the Lake Shore Flyer.

CASE UNDER INVESTIGATION

Prominent Persons Among the List of Dead, Which Now Number Nineteen—Officials Decide to Restore the Twenty-Hour Schedule—Names of Victims of the Disaster.

Cleveland, O., June 23.—It is possible that investigation will develop that a boy 14 years old meddled with the switch at Mentor station and caused the wreck of the Twentieth Century flyer. William Uehor, the ticket agent of the Nickel Plate, and James Barnes of Wadoughly were on the scene of the wreck 20 minutes after the wreck happened. On the way they met a boy carrying a lantern. They questioned him and he said he had been down to shut a switch. They questioned him further, thinking it possible that the boy had tampered with the switch, but the boy insisted that he had closed it. The men went to the scene of the wreck and found the switch open, but locked. They think the boy thought that there was a freight ahead of the Twentieth Century and opened the switch to let it through to take a siding.

Traumen are of the opinion that the crew of the Twentieth Century was deceived by a second white light 100 feet beyond the switch which was open, but while traveling at such fast speed were unable to gauge the distance and mistook the second light for the first one.

W. H. Marshall, general manager of the Lake Shore, believes the speed of the train was not a contributor in the cause of the wreck. He said the other Lake Shore trains travel through Mentor at a speed equal to that attained by the Twentieth Century, which was not Mr. Marshall said, above the rate of 60 miles an hour. The schedule called for a speed of 57 miles an hour at that point.

The list of fatalities in the wreck is one of the largest in the history of the road. All the victims were prominent in the business and professional world in New York, Chicago, Cleveland and other cities.

The official list of the dead as compiled by the officials of the Lake Shore company is as follows: Passengers: John R. Bennett, attorney, New York city; John A. Bradley of the law firm of Rowley, Rogers, Bradley & Rockwell, Akron, O.; T. R. Morgan, second vice president of the Wellman-Seavers-Morgan company of Cleveland; C. H. Wellman of the Wellman-Seavers-Morgan company, Cleveland, died in hospital; A. L. Rogers of New York city, representative of the Platt iron works of Dayton, O., died in hospital; S. C. Deckwith, New York; A. H. Head, London, England, representative of the Otis Steel company of Cleveland, died in hospital; H. H. Wright, traveling man, Milwaukee, died in hospital; J. H. Gibson, Chicago traveling man, died in hospital, Cleveland; H. C. Mechling, New York city, with the Wheeling Corrugated Iron company, killed in wreck; E. E. Nangle, Chicago, proprietor of a railway supply house, killed in wreck; two as yet unidentified dead, supposed to be L. A. Johnson of the millinery firm of Comey & Johnson, Cleveland, and Henry Trinz, the barber on the train. Employees: Allen Tyler, engineer, Collinwood, O., died in hospital; F. J. Brant, head brakeman, Erie, Pa., died in hospital; N. B. Walters, baggage-master, Hamburg, N. Y., died in hospital; W. D. Mickey, porter on Pullman car, Chicago, died at scene of wreck.

POPULATION CENTER

Has Reversed Its Course and is Now Moving Eastward, Declares Leslie's Weekly.

There is a strong probability that the center of the country's population, which from the beginning along to 1900 had been pushing westward, has reversed its course, says Leslie's Weekly. Some light on this point will be obtained in a few weeks. Many states make a count of inhabitants half way between the national enumerations, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Florida, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Kansas, Utah and Oregon, do this in 1905. Iowa is predicting a practically stationary population for itself. Only a small increase is looked for in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Kansas. An average is predicted for the Dakotas, Utah and Oregon. On the other hand, considerable gains are expected in New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Rhode Island, while Florida believes it shares in the expansion which is making the South the most rapidly growing section in the country today.

All this would indicate a movement of the population center toward the East for the first time in the country's annals.

The South is having a prosperity unknown in its previous history, and it is attracting settlers from the North and West and from Europe. The National Bureau of Immigration is helping to divert immigrants to the South, and thus relieving the congestion in the great Eastern centers. In 1900 the population center was close to Columbus near the middle of Indiana, having moved westward only 14 miles in the 10 years after 1890, as compared with 48 miles in the decade immediately previous, and 58 miles in the 10 years just before that. While this movement of the population center to the West was steadily slackening a movement to the South, which brought the center two miles nearer to Mason & Dixon's line in the 10 years ending with 1900, was in progress, and is still under way. The chances are that the population pivot is now marching eastward, thus reversing the course of the star of empire hitherto, and that it is slowly veering at the same time to the southward. This change, if it is really under way, will have vast social and political consequences for the country.

WHEN DOES MAN DIE?

Question Cannot be Answered, as the Process is Gradual, Remarks the World Today.

In the first place there is no definite moment of death, says The World Today. We all are gradually dying for years. The moment which is ordinarily ascribed to death is when the breath is stopped, but this is purely arbitrary and the survival of an old belief that life was drawn in in the breath and the soul passed out with the breath. The heart may continue to beat many minutes, and in animals under experimental conditions even for hours after respiration has stopped; the muscles are still irritable; the nerves are still able to carry nerve impulses. But, while the cessation of respiration cannot be called the moment of death, it is the cause of it, because the body cannot live without air; the heart, accordingly, stops and the tissues die of suffocation.

How arbitrary it is to call a man dead when his heart ceases to beat and he no longer breathes will be apparent when it is remembered that dogs may easily be revived after they have lain in this state for six or more minutes. If the dogs chest is opened and artificial respiration begun, and if the heart is taken in the hand and rhythmically squeezed, gradually it begins to beat again, the dog begins to breathe—in fact, he recovers normal life. I believe the same experiment has not been tried in men, for the reason that in illness the system is generally so poisoned by the toxins of disease as to make it impossible spontaneously to recover, even though the heart should be kept beating. The heart of a man may in some cases be made to beat again outside the body if defibrinated blood is circulated through it.

We cannot therefore answer the question, When does a man die? If we mean by a man his body, this dies piecemeal, one organ after another; if we mean the man's personality, this evidently disappears when he loses consciousness; and from this point of view he may be said to die when he falls in deep slumber, certainly when he is anesthetized.

Given on a Smuggler and the Lady With the Diamonds Could Not be Found.

New York, June 23.—A cabled him from the continental police to the effect that a noted smuggler would attempt to bring a large number of diamonds into the United States without the formality of paying duty, accounted for the presence of a special revenue detective on the White Star liner Teutonic when she came into port. The officer boarded the ship off Nantuxet and between that port and her pier made a thorough search, to the great mystification of the passengers. Several other revenue men were on the pier when the Teutonic docked. An unusually vigorous search of the baggage was made, and every person who left the boat was scrutinized by several pairs of eyes. The diamonds in question were said to be valued at fully $100,000. They were taken from Paris to London, according to the information offered from the other side for shipment to the United States. No seizure was made.

Stops Game Between Ohio Wesleyan and Kentuckians—Thomas is the Bone of Contention.

Zanesville, O., June 23.—Chas. Thomas, a Zanesville boy, who has been winning athletic honors at Ohio Wesleyan college and who is catching a great game for the Methodist baseball team this year, was the innocent cause of trouble at the beginning of the game between Ohio Wesleyan and the University of Kentucky Tuesday afternoon. Coming from the South the Kentuckians still possess the long forgotten race prejudice to some extent. Consequently when they saw Thomas was in the game they refused to play and the game was declared off.

Thomas is a graduate of the Zanesville High school and is one of the best all round athletes that school has ever produced. With equal athletic skill he has been a member of football, baseball and track teams, winning credit for himself and his college in all of them. While in the High school Thomas played a great game at full back for the Z. H. S. football team of 1904. He was also a member of the baseball team of the school for several years.

NEW WELL AT UTICA IS NOW COMING IN

Central Ohio Company Gets Good Flow
—Butler Well Diminishing—Gas Field News Items.

Utica O., June 21.—The Central Ohio's gas well 20 rods south of the Utica planing mill is coming in today. The well already shows a flow of 1 1/2 millions.

The Advocate's report on the Butler well is said by experts as men here to be correct. The well was strong at first, but has been diminishing its flow. It is now considerably less than a million feet.

The Central Ohio is starting a well on Hamline Conard - lower place west of the Williams farm.

The Logan well on the Frank Vanatta farm is said to be good for between three and four million.

The well on the Stanton lot in the south part of town has fair to come in Saturday if big water is not struck and nothing gets hung up.

At the Moreland well clean out job west of town, the team last week pulled the tubing apart in trying to draw it. Work was then deferred till yesterday when the thing tools arrived.

The Enterprise well at the south end of town has been giving great trouble. The long string of casing that was put in last week could not be made tighter at the bottom, and it was necessary to draw it and set it again. Still it failed to keep the water out, and it had to be drawn the second time.

The Logan company had a location chosen and a derrick partly built, on the Wythe (Campbell) lease (part of the old Isaac Sperry farm) northwest of the Garrison well. After the Elliott well came in Saturday, orders were received to move the rig about one thousand feet to get the location in as close touch as possible with the Elliott.

Contractor Scott has had bad luck with the first well he has undertaken in this field—that on the southwest part of the Rose Wilson farm north of Utica. At 186 feet the drive pipe went wrong and it was necessary to move the rig a few feet, which was done Monday and Tuesday. Efforts to draw pipe with jacks and jammers failed, and 175 feet with a shoe was abandoned.

Mr. McDonald says that the strike of the switchmen has resolved into a general strike and that now all employees in every department of the road service are becoming involved in it. He also says that General Superintendent William Sheridan, formerly of this city, has advertised for 1000 engineers and conductors.

NEWARK MAN IS ASSAULTED BY TOUGHS

The Texas Bill Wald, West show left the city last night leaving the usual results of a visit of the class of toughs usually following such organizations.

One man was viciously assaulted by a band of ten men on South Fourth street Thursday night about 11 o'clock. It is understood that the trouble originated over a mistake in some tickets, and the man was referred to the manager of the show, by a member of the company who stated that the matter would be fixed all right. The Newark man did as requested and started for the car where the manager was to be found. As he turned the corner of South Fourth to go over to the car, five badly toughs from the show surrounded him and began a vicious assault. He made his way to the center of Fourth street where two policemen appeared and frightened the assailants away. The man did not know the names of his assailants or arrests would have been made today.

FACTORY FIRES GO OUT JUNE 30TH

EVERETT PLANT WILL CLOSE ON THAT DATE FOR THE SUMMER.

Hot Weather Has Been Particularly Hard on the Men Who Work by the Fiery Furnaces.

"The fires will go out June 30." On that day all the glassblowers, helpers and others at the Everett glass works will stop work until this fall, when they will be called together for another season.

For the past few days the extreme heat has been harder on the glassblowers than probably any other class of workmen, unless it is the molders at the Wehrle stove plant. With the temperature close to 95 degrees in the shade a glassblower is forced to take an open space in one of the large glass tanks in which the glass is heated to a temperature of close to 2800 degrees. He must reach in and gather a quantity of this white-hot glass on the end of his blow pipe in order to blow one bottle. This is a feat which even on the coldest winter day is a hot task, to say the least, and with the summer heat beating down upon the roofs of the factories it is almost unbearable during the present period of hot weather.

Some of the glassblowers will have large sums of money coming to them on the last day of the fire. The finance system employed at the factory is well known, and the majority of the glassblowers will have amounts of sufficient size coming to them to permit of extended seashore visits, and trips to various parts of the United States. The majority of Newark's glassblowers hailed originally from the east, and with the closing of the season many of them will return for the summer months to their old homes.

Those of the blowers who leave the city will return in the fall. The date for the opening of the season, is not as yet known. The blowers will keep in touch with the officers of the company, and they will all be here on time.

A blessing alike to young and old: Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, nature's specific for dysentery, diarrhoea and summer complaint.

BEBUFF

Met by the Bishop, Who Said the Priest Was Barred From Heaven.

Lincoln, Neb., June 22.—Right Rev. Thomas Bonacum, Bishop of the Lincoln diocese of the Roman Catholic church, has met another judicial rebuff at the hands of the Supreme court of Nebraska. Bishop Bonacum has been litigating for the past 12 years with Father William Murphy, a priest at Seward. Upward of a dozen suits have been begun by the Bishop to oust Father Murphy from his parish, but the priest invariably has won. In his last action the Bishop presented in court a copy of an alleged ruling by the Papal authorities at Rome, confirming his action in excommunicating the recalcitrant priest. The court held that the certification to the decree coming from Rome was not properly authenticated. The parishioners at Seward have leaned toward the priest throughout the proceedings and the court declines to interfere with Father Murphy in his possession of the church and the parish. An unusual phase of the controversy was the order of excommunication issued by Bishop Bonacum, in which he declared that the gates of heaven had been barred against the priest for his disobedience.

WEDDINGS.

MARSHALL-GALLOWAY.

A pretty home wedding was that which occurred Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Galloway when their daughter Nellie Mabel, was united in marriage to Mr. Merle DeWitt Marshall.

The house was profusely decorated with field daisies, the altar being a bank of the blossoms and ferns. The impressive ring ceremony of the Methodist church was performed by Rev. George A. Marshall of Columbus, father of the groom. The bride was charming in an exquisite gown of white chiffon, and carried bride's roses. An elaborate supper followed the ceremony. The tables were decorated with lilies and suzanna and lighted with candles.

Dainty hand painted place cards seated the guests, those at the bride's table with the bride and groom being Misses Dille, Minnie Chilcote, Virginia and Una Marshall, Messrs. Ralph Hamilton, Harry Kirkpatrick, Dr. Nye and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Marshall. From the bride's side, Miss Minnie Chilcote received the ring, Miss Una Marshall the coin, and Mr. Clyde Marshall the thimble. The bride was blindfolded and Miss Virginia Marshall was the fortunate recipient of the bride's bouquet.

The out of town guests were Messrs. Ralph Hamilton and Harry Kirkpatrick of Pittsburgh, Mr. Walter Bailey, Rev. and Mrs. George A. Marshall, Misses Virginia and Una Marshall, and Master Paul Marshall of Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall left at 1:35 over the Pan Handle for Atlantic City and will visit New York, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C., before returning home. The contracting parties are well and favorably known in the city, and the best wishes of a host of friends go with them in their start on life's journey.

ROBINETTE-SCOTT.

Mr. Benjamin Frederick Robinette and Miss Asha Anna Scott were married in the parsonage of the First Presbyterian church Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, Rev. Lester S. Boyce officiating. Mr. Robinette is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Robinette of Park avenue, and is a well known telegraph operator of the B. & O. The bride is the daughter of Mr. James Scott of Utica. The happy couple have a new and well furnished home on Hollander street, where they will be at home to their many friends.

WINDOM-RHODES.

Mr. Russell B. Windom and Miss Sarah Florence Rhodes were married in the parsonage of the First Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. Lester S. Boyce officiating. Mr. Windom is the son of Joseph R. Windom of Gallia county. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Rhodes of Wehrle avenue, having moved here recently from Gallipolis, O. Mr. Windom is a traveling salesman. Their home will be in Newark.

FOSTER-HILL.

Mr. Bay Foster and Miss Mattie Hill were united in marriage Saturday evening, June 17, at 8 o'clock by James J. Hill, J. P. The happy couple left immediately after the ceremony for Marengo where they will spend a week or so visiting relatives of the bride. Both are highly respected and popular young people, the bride being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orison Hill and the groom the son of Mrs. Lucy Foster. After their return from Marengo county Mr. and Mrs. Foster will take up their residence in Johnstown. —Johnstown Independent.

contracting parties, Rev. J. Wright performing the nuptial ceremony. The bride during the past several years has been a highly successful teacher in the schools of this county, having during the past year taught in the local public schools. She is a graduate of the Johnstown High school and is popular in social and religious circles of the community and highly esteemed by all who bear her acquaintance.

The groom until the past year lived near Hebron, this county, but is now a resident of West Bloomfield, N. Y., near where he and his bride will reside on a farm.

The happy young couple left Wednesday evening for Westerville, Columbus and Newark, at which places they will visit a week, their "at home" cards announcing August 1, 1905, as their date for beginning housekeeping at their New York home.

In attendance at the wedding were Lester Cheek and his bride, formerly Miss Minnie Schleckman of Columbus, the marriage of whom occurred Wednesday of last week.

The best wishes of the community go out to Mr. and Mrs. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Cheek for unlimited happiness and prosperity in their wedded life.

The young ladies of the village participated in a parcel "show" given at the H. B. Rusler home and planned by Misses Libbie Brush and Josephine Carter Monday evening in honor of Miss Cheek. The honored one was the recipient of many beautiful presents and the evening made a very pleasant social occasion.

BAUGHMAN-STASEL.

Mr. Alva Howard Baughman and Miss Emma Genevieve Stasel, eldest daughter of Mr. Charles Stasel of the London road, were married at 8 o'clock Thursday evening at the home of the bride by Rev. J. C. Schindel. They were attended by Mr. A. Jones and Miss Edna Stasel, and only the relatives and immediate friends were present. A number of beautiful presents were received by the young couple. After the ceremony an elaborate dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Baughman will make their home for the present with the bride's parents.

SILVER WEDDING.

Johnstown, O., June 23.—About fifty of the friends, neighbors and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. N. Hatton gathered at their home on Williams street, Tuesday to assist them in celebrating their silver wedding anniversary. The gathering was planned by Mrs. Clara Cheek, a sister of Mrs. Hatton. A fine dinner was served at noon. The afternoon was pleasantly passed with music, games and good old fashioned visiting. Mr. and Mrs. Hatton were the recipients of many beautiful presents. Those present from a distance were John Hatton and family of Mt. Gilead, and Mrs. Bennett of Marengo.

CLEANLY WOMAN.

Erroneously Thinks by Scouring Her Scalp That She Cures Dandruff.

Cleanly woman has an erroneous idea that by scouring the scalp, which removes the dandruff, she is curing the dandruff. She may wash her scalp every day, and yet have dandruff her life long, accompanied by falling hair. The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ, and there is no hair preparation that will do that but Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide by killing the dandruff germ, leaves the hair free to grow as healthy. Nature intended. Destroy the cause you remove the effect. Kill the dandruff germ with Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

ROOSEVELT RETURNS

President Reached Washington Today From His Journey Among the Eastern Colleges.

Washington, June 23.—President Roosevelt reached Washington today from his journey among the colleges of western Massachusetts. At Williams town he received from Williams college the honorary degree of L. H. D. His stay in Massachusetts, which was of scarcely 32 hours' duration, was a busy one. He attended three college commencements, at two of which he received high honorary degrees; traveled several hundred miles, and besides delivering significant addresses at each commencement, made a number of speeches from the platform of his car to citizens who had gathered at the stations along the route.

INVENTED THE MOTOR.

Some time elapsed after the development of the self-exciting machine before the marvelous characteristic of reversibility of function was discovered, with the necessary corollary, the electrical transmission of energy by the use of two similar machines, one to be driven by power and to generate electricity, and to develop mechanical power. It is claimed that this vital fact was discovered and described by Pacinotti in 1877; but, if so, the discovery remained dormant until 1873, when Messrs. Gramme and Fontaine independently demonstrated it at the Vienna Exposition. The exact circumstances of this discovery will probably never be known, but one account says that it was accidental, and was due to the mistake of a workman who coupled a machine to a live circuit, and was astonished to see it begin to rotate. This is a quite natural possibility, as a similar thing has happened many times in recent years.—The Century.

HOW THE LAST MAN WILL LIVE.

The earth is ever radiating away heat into space. And so at last comes a vision of earthly cherubim, hopping heads, great unemotional intelligences, and little hearts, fighting together perforce and fiercely against the cold that grips them tighter and tighter. For the world is cooling—slowly and inevitably it grows colder as the years roll by. "We must imagine these creatures," says the Professor, "in galleries and laboratories deep down in the bowels of the earth. The whole world will be snow-covered and piled with ice; all animals, all vegetation vanished, except this last branch of the tree of life. The last men have gone even deeper following the diminishing heat of the planet, and vast metallic shafts and ventilators make way for the air they need."—From The Metropolitan Magazine for July.

OBITUARY

LAI TO REST

Large Number of Friends Attend the Funeral of Daniel A. Ganey on Friday Morning.

One of the most largely attended funerals held in Newark was that of the late Daniel A. Ganey Friday morning. The procession started from the home at the corner of Hoover and Eddy streets, shortly before 9 o'clock, crowds of people lined in the residence to take one last look at the face of a man beloved by all who in any manner came in contact with him. Mr. Ganey, although a young man was probably the best known man in Newark. He was noted for his kind, helpful nature, and for his kindness to those around him. He was always careful in his conversation, careful not to speak disrespectfully of anyone, but to give proper respect to all.

The deceased had a large circle of friends, who, while they mourn the loss of such an upright and noble man, are happy that such a character has existed as an example for others.

The service was conducted at St. Francis de Sales church by Rev. Father O'Boylan, and was concluded about 10 o'clock, when the procession moved to Mt. Calvary cemetery, where the body was laid to rest. The pall bearers were John C. Brennan, Archie C. Davis, Wm. P. Young and John Flanagan.

The clerks of the Carroll dry goods company, at which place Mr. Ganey was employed as bookkeeper, attended the funeral and the J. J. Carroll store was closed for the morning.

The floral offerings were beautiful, and these alone served as an appropriate evidence of the esteem in which the deceased was held throughout the city.

Y. Rev. B. M. O'Boylan celebrated the Requiem High mass and the choir under Mr. W. Downey's direction rendered appropriate music.

At the end of the obsequies, Father O'Boylan began a learned discourse on the nature and philosophy of life and death, and after having shown the results of modern research in this field to have failed in solving these greatest and deepest of all questions, he briefly referred to the Christian solution and at the close paid the following high tribute to the life and character of the deceased, whom he considered as one of his dearest friends and best advisers.

Father O'Boylan said: "The just man liveth by faith."

Rom. 1-17.

"My Brethren:—The character of the deceased was such as should be held up for the benefit of the living. It can bear the closest scrutiny; and the deeper we go into it the richer in virtue do we find it. He never betrayed a friend. He was true to himself, to his church, to his family and to every noble principle. He would rather surrender all he had in this world than give up the least jot or tittle of his faith or violate the confidence and loyalty pledged for him at Baptism. He humbly and gladly obeyed the commands of those whom the church appointed to govern in this parish as well as in old St. Patrick's. He was before and above all things a humble child of holy Mother church and would rather die a hundred deaths than become a rebel or a traitor to her. He was ever ready to act on the principle couched in one of our great hymns: "I will not forsake thee, I never shall be from thee."

O Church of the Saints, an apostate from thee: Though friends may desert me, though fortune may frown, My Church and my faith until death I shall own."

"If he had any faults he had the courage and good sense, like all really honest and true men, to acknowledge and confess them and, when necessary, to make amends for them. His Creator cast him in almost a perfect mould. With a well-balanced mind, a clear and sure conscience, a resolute and loving heart, he forged his way through the cold and cruel world—a beacon light to his family and an inspiration to his fellow toilers."

"The life and character of the deceased stand prominently as a proof of my text: 'The just man liveth by faith,' and all his acts tended to the one great end of life, viz. the glory of God and his own salvation, which begin their everlasting triumph at the moment of death. His career since his birth and since he was able to work for a living can be briefly told. Born in Wellsville, N. Y., in 1863, he came to this state at the age of eleven. After passing through St. Patrick's parochial school in Columbus he began to earn his means of living in a dry goods store in the Capital City of this state. After this he learned the more arduous but far more healthy trade of a chain-worker, and after some years at this, returned to work again in the dry goods business in which he labored up to the hour of his fatal illness. His life among us in Newark during his nineteen years of residence has been an open book. So devoted was he to the interests of his employers and his family that he never took a vacation; never revisited the scenes of his childhood in his native state; and never sought for rest from his day's work, except when sickness or holidays laid him off duty. His highest ambition was to rear a good family and with the help of God he succeeded in this as few men have done. His humility, gentleness and cheerfulness made his home a peaceful Christian heritage. No amount of the world's goods could turn either his head or heart from the one end for which God created him. It was a real source of pleasure to hear him speak of his home-doings, his hopes and his dear family. His heart was always in the right place. Going to and from his work, with what reverence he lifted his hat as he passed by the church on his busy wheel! His mind was at all times uplifted to Christ, fulfilling to the letter the advice of the Apostle to the Gentiles. We have had in this parish men and women who died the death of the saints; we have some still living, but among the men past and present there were few as far as we can judge, who were at all times better prepared to go before their Supreme Judge than he was.

"To the family of the deceased I offer my most profound sympathy in this great trial; but I firmly believe that their father will obtain from our Redeemer the best and truest consolation for them. Personally, I grieve from my inmost soul for one of the most devoted of my flock and I feel when I tell you to bear this body to its last resting place on earth that you take with you a most precious burden for the soul that has been its inhabitant was of a person who possessed in a large measure the virtues of the beatitudes spoken of by our Lord in His Sermon on the Mount. He was humble in spirit; he was meek; he had sympathy for those in distress; he hungered and thirsted for justice; he was merciful; he was clean of heart; he was a peacemaker, and he was willing to suffer persecution for justice sake; therefore, we may rest assured that he met his Redeemer in peace and has received his reward."

Take, then, this honored body to Mount Calvary where it shall rest until God shall call it back again to be reunited to its soul. Regard it as you follow it there, as having been the tabernacle of Christ. Remember, as you go that the brain now still forever, was among the most active that ever thought of God in this parish; and that the tongue, that can no longer utter a kind, encouraging word, was never deliberately used to offend its Creator. And now let us offer the Lord's Prayer for the happy repose of this soul who in life was the kind and gentle usher and collector, the cheerful giver and helper in this church for so many years. We shall miss him, but let us never forget him in our prayers before this altar to which he was so devoted.

"May his absence from his usual place on Sundays and holidays be a powerful reminder of the gratitude we owe him and prompt us to recommend his soul to the friendship of God. Amen."

MRS. ALBERT O'HARA.

Croton, O., June 23.—The sudden death of Mrs. Albert O'Hara which occurred last Thursday evening was a shock to all of our citizens in the town and community. The cause of death was a clot of blood forming in a blood vessel near the heart.

IN THE COURTS

In Common Pleas. Albert A. Stasel, receiver for the Newark Savings Bank company vs. John Dair, an action to foreclose a chattel mortgage. Sale confirmed and order of distribution. Stasel.

John A. Roebing Sons Co. vs. Shawnee Valley Coal and Iron company, order to advertise for creditors to present their claims by the first of January, 1906. Stasel; Kibler & Kibler, Hunter & Hunter, J. B. Jones, Rees, Taylor, Johnson.

Almeda White vs. Insurance company, judgment of settlement. Kibler & Kibler.

City of Newark vs. Fred C. Evans, judgment of dismissal. Smythe; Kibler & Kibler.

John E. Lamp vs. B. & O. railroad company. Motion for new trial overruled. Norpell, Hunter & Hunter, Kibler & Kibler.

Same in Almeda Mahom vs. James T. Mahom. Hunter & Hunter, Swartz, J. B. Jones, Follett & Follett.

C. S. Owen vs. E. M. Durl, same order. Swartz; Smythe & Smythe.

Frank Weaver vs. Oren O. King et al, motion for new trial argued. J. D. Jones, Houck (Mt. Vernon); Hunter & Hunter, Kibler & Kibler.

Abel J. Wilson et al vs. Rose Wilson, a petition for an injunction to restrain the cutting of timber; judgment on demurrer, making injunction perpetual. Rees; J. B. Jones.

William Sonenthal vs. City of Newark, a petition in order to reverse the judgment of conviction before mayor for violating an ordinance against keeping open his store on the Sabbath. Petition in error dismissed and judgment affirmed. Black; Smythe.

Possession of Real Estate. Adam Young has commenced suit in the Common Pleas court to regain possession of certain real estate held by Sarah J. Young and Warren W. Young. Plaintiff says the defendants, who reside in Newark, induced him to come from his home in Muskingum county, and that shortly after his arrival in the city the defendants commenced suit against him for $250 for board and lodging. Plaintiff says he was not indebted in any sum whatever to the defendants, but that they are indebted to him. He says the institution of the action was for the purpose of inducing him, by operating on his fears, to convey the property to the defendant, Sarah J. Young, upon a colorable consideration of $300, but in fact, no consideration whatever, and that upon procuring the conveyance she caused the action to be dismissed.

Plaintiff asks that the deed may be ordered to be delivered up and cancelled, and that he be declared by the court to be the owner of the real estate in fee simple; that the cloud constituted by the record of the deed upon plaintiff's title be removed by the court and that the defendant, Sarah J. Young may be restrained from in any manner seeking to obtain possession of the premises, and that she also be restrained by the court during the pendency of the case from conveying or transferring the same, and that the plaintiff may have any other and further relief as equity may be required.

Court Notes.

In the case of Louisa Briggs vs. Edward J. Briggs et al, the plaintiff, by his attorney, J. V. Hillard, for a rehearing of a judgment of dismissal entered in this case at the April term of the Common Pleas court.

In the case of L. P. Tussing et al, plaintiff in error vs. R. Walter Evans, defendant in error, the plaintiff in error has filed a motion for a new trial. Donaldson & Tussing, attorneys for plaintiff in error.

Retail Estate Transfers.

D. D. Barr and Hester R. Barr to Daniel W. Shrock, 120 acres in Salisbury township, $3000.

Bede Frisken and Lillie Frisken to Daniel Coffman and Henry Embrey, real estate on Union street, in West End, Newark, $9,130.

Excursion tickets via New York will be good going or returning by all-rail route, or by steamer and rail of the Sandy Hook route, between New York and Asbury Park. The fare is the same over all routes.

Stop-overs at Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia will be allowed on tickets reading through those cities, within the time limit, ample for sight-seeing. A stop-over at New York on the return trip will be granted on tickets routed via that city.

Full particulars about stop-overs, routes, fares and free booklet describing hotel rates and accommodations at Asbury Park and Ocean Grove and interesting sights en route may be obtained from Local Ticket Agent of Pennsylvania Lines.

Fares West and South Reduced.—Chance for inexpensive vacation tour or business trip.—Fares to the West, Northwest, South and Southwest have been reduced via Pennsylvania Lines for the special Home-Seekers', Colonists' and Settlers' excursions.

This reduction will enable intending travelers to the West to purchase from ticket agents of the Pennsylvania Lines on May 16th round-trip excursion tickets to points in Colorado, Nebraska, South Dakota, Wyoming, Texas, Indian Territory, Oklahoma and the South at the lowest fares, with return limit of 21 days.

Book of Cedar Point.—Wonderful Facilities for an Outing at the Famous Lake Resort.—With the approach of vacation days interest is centered in the selection of a good place for a summer outing. Right in this connection there is interesting reading in a new booklet which may be obtained for the asking at the local ticket office of the Pennsylvania Lines. It describes the many attractions at Cedar Point, the famous resort on Lake Erie, which offers special inducements for a day's outing or a sojourn of weeks. The book gives hotel and cottage accommodations, with rates ranging from $2.50 a week upward.

The new grain elevator, largest in the world, erected at Port William, Ontario, by the Canadian Pacific railway, has storage capacity for 6,000,000 bushels, with facilities to unload and load into ships at the same time at the continuous rate of 100,000 bushels per hour.

MAY SUGGEST AN ARMISTICE

President Roosevelt Would Avert Impending Battle in Manchuria.

CONFERENCE AT WASHINGTON

Secretary Hay in Receipt of Cablegrams From Tokyo and St. Petersburg—Action Imminent at the Front. Russians Reported Failing Back. Count Lamsdorff Ill.

Washington, June 23.—Secretary Hay has a number of cablegrams from Tokyo and St. Petersburg which he carried to the White House. A conference on the general situation and the outlook for an armistice followed. Despite their strong belief that it would greatly further the cause of peace if the belligerents would avoid a clash between their armies pending the Washington conference, the president and Secretary Hay are aware of the wish of the Japanese that before assenting to an armistice they receive more definite assurances regarding Russia's intentions. Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, is expected to return to Washington this afternoon, and Sir Mortimer Leland, the British ambassador, will be in Washington by the end of the week.

No assistance is expected in Washington from the London government in whatever efforts the president may initiate to bring about an immediate armistice, or to prevent a clash before the convening of the Washington conference. The British officials believe, according to advices reaching this government, that Japan would be sacrificing a great deal to consent to an armistice at this time, and that after a great defeat on land the Russians will be more ready to discuss peace.

Ready For Battle. St. Petersburg, June 23.—A dispatch from Gushin Pass reads: "The operations of the Japanese during the last five days, which at first were thought to be portentous, apparently ended after the last fight. The Japanese appear to be merely clearing their immediate front. There is now no reason for any further delay in beginning the great battle, as the opposing armies are essentially equal. The Russian troops are under the impression that an advance is to begin. A press telegram speaks of a 'rear guard action,' and there are rumors in the city that the Russian army is retreating; but the latest dispatches received from Lieutenant General Linevitch declared briefly that the Japanese advance had paused. It is probable that the Russian advanced lines are crossing the railroad and will continue their retirement more or less hurriedly in order to avoid being flanked and pocketed into the positions at Spichinsk are reached. The main forces seemingly are not yet in collision.

Manchurian Plains Flooded. London, June 23.—Dispatches from the seat of war indicate that it is unlikely the heavy rains will stop the progress of the great battle. The Mojo (Japan) correspondent of the paper says that the operations are being greatly impeded by the rains. The Manchurian plains are flooded and the roads are almost impassable to heavy transports, but the conditions are more favorable to the light wagons of the Japanese than to the heavy ones of the Russians. Lieutenant General Mikeshenko's operations have ceased, the correspondent says, and one of his detachments, which was unable to retreat owing to the flooded streams, is completely cut off.

Lamsdorff Ill. St. Petersburg, June 23.—Count Cassini, the retiring ambassador at Washington, will not participate in the peace negotiations, but will leave the United States immediately on the arrival of Baron Reuss, his successor. Foreign Minister Lamsdorff is indisposed. It is understood his condition is not serious, but his physician ordered the minister not to leave his bedroom. There is no intimation, however, that this will appreciably delay the pending peace negotiations.

Nelidoff Not Informed. Paris, June 23.—M. Nelidoff, the Russian ambassador here, has not been advised of his appointment as peace plenipotentiary, and therefore doubts the report to that effect, as it is considered improbable that the authorities at St. Petersburg would act without consulting him. Moreover, it is said that the ambassador's health does not warrant him in taking a long sea voyage.

A UNIVERSAL NEWSPAPER. Sir Alfred Harcourt, the owner of thirty-two periodicals in England is perhaps the most enterprising of all young British publishers. His principal organ is the London Daily Mail and in connection with it he has made a novel venture. In order to enable Englishmen residing in the colonies and foreign countries to keep in touch with the home news of the Empire, he has successfully established a weekly summary, which has already become known in all parts of the world as the Overseas Daily Mail. It has only been in existence sixteen weeks but now has a subscription list of 23,000.—From The Metropolitan Magazine for July.

MITCHELL

Listens to the Testimony of His Law Partner in Land Case.

Portland, Ore., June 23.—Hon. John Mitchell, senior United States senator from Oregon, listened to the testimony of Judge Tanner, his lifelong friend and law partner. Judge Tanner told of having received a telegram from the senator asking him to come as far as Kalama, Wash., to meet him. The judge had taken the trip and had met the senator on the train, with Binger Herman and Frank C. Baker, chairman of the Republican state central committee. The senator, he said, was very eager for land fraud news, and asked him if there was any danger of the government agents having access to the books of the firm. The following day, Judge Tanner testified, the senator went to the office and in company with him (Tanner) looked over the books, page by page. According to the testimony of the judge, Mitchell expressed surprise at the way entries had been made, and demanded that the old books be destroyed, saying the entries in regard to the Kribs transactions would not only indict, but would convict him if they fell into the hands of the government.

Jurors as Sleuths. Chicago, June 23.—The work of the federal grand jury investigating the beef industries showed that the members of the inquisitorial body have been playing the part of detectives in finding witnesses who may enlighten them on certain points concerning the buying of cattle by the packers. As a result of this detective work by the jurors, Frederick Wood of Hampshire, Ill.; Christopher Barnhardt of Wilmington, Ill.; and E. C. Sholes, a cattle feeder from Burlington, Ill., testified before the jury and explained the troubles a cattle shipper has selling his live stock in the Chicago market. J. A. Ridgeley, general freight agent for the Louisville and Nashville railroad, was another witness, together with two other traffic men whose identity was closely guarded by federal officials.

ANXIETY PREVAILS

In French Official Circles Relative to Germany's Answer.

Paris, June 23.—Official circles here observe the outward appearance of entire tranquillity over Franco-German negotiations, but an undercurrent of considerable anxiety prevails relative to Germany's answer to the French note. This is somewhat intensified by publications purporting to give Germany's intention to insist that the Moroccan conference be not trammeled by specific limitations upon its scope. Nothing, however, has yet been received from official sources indicating that such is the purpose of Germany.

Will Probe British Scandal. London, June 23.—Under pressure from all sides, Premier Balfour made further concessions in regard to the investigation of the army stores scandal, and announced in the house of commons that the government would immediately introduce a bill creating a statutory commission to inquire into the scandal. This commission will be armed with powers to compel the attendance of witnesses and to enforce penalties for perjury, etc.

A Mistrial. Washington, June 23.—No verdict was reached in the case of William G. Crawford, charged with conspiring with August W. Machen and George E. Lorenz to defraud the government in connection with contracts to furnish letter carriers' satchels to the postoffice department, and after deliberating for more than 47 hours the jury was discharged.

FRAUD ALLEGED

That May Outrival the Famous Creek Warrant Steal.

Muskogee, I. T., June 23.—It is alleged that a steal in connection with the payment of the Chickasaw warrants has been discovered which will outrival the famous Creek warrant steal, and may involve a fugitive banker of Tishomingo and "Queen high up." The sum can not be determined at present, but it is believed to be between $100,000 and $200,000. This sum represents the Chickasaw school warrants that were paid and afterward, it is said, redelivered. One firm in St. Louis, it is understood, has about $400,000 worth of these warrants.

General Lyttelton Resigns. London, June 23.—It is said that Lieutenant General Sir Neville Lyttelton, chief of the general staff and first military member of the army council, has resigned as the result of the South African army stores scandal. General Lyttelton took over the command of the forces in South Africa at the close of the war, and it is alleged that under his regime Lord Kitchener's system of dealing with contracts was allowed to drop. It is reported that General Sir William Nelly, who recently resumed the command of the forces at Gibraltar, will be selected to succeed General Lyttelton.

KIDNAPED

By Ten Year Old Girl Were Her Two Sisters—Edith Was Captured 100 Miles From Home.

Sioux City, Ia., June 23.—The kidnapping of two babies by a ten year old girl at Lake City Wednesday evening created a sensation which was second only to that occasioned by the capture yesterday of the young kidnaper on a train 100 miles from the scene of her offense.

Edith Brown, the offender, quarreled with an older sister, while engaged in picking strawberries. She left the picnic grounds on a train, secured her two little sisters, aged three years and three months respectively, and stealing a $20 bill from her mother's purse coolly made her way to the depot and boarded the first train. Although it was necessary for her to change cars en route she managed her two young charges admirably and had just reached her destination, Perry, Ia., when the warrant for her arrest was served on her.

In the meantime her parents and the entire neighborhood were frantically aroused and it was only by dint of much telephoning and telegraphing that she was located.

STATE NEWS

Patrick Out Of It.
New Philadelphia, O., June 23.—Hon. Abe Patrick, prominently mentioned as a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, will not make the race. "I am out of it for good," he states. "Although I have received many encouraging letters from all over the state I feel that a man who is past 70 is too old to make a fight for it."

Patison Is the Man I Am For.
I think it will be between Patison and Welty. They are both good men. If I were only 10 years younger, or even as young as I feel, I would go in for it, but the governor of Ohio should be a younger man than I am."

Voted Bond Issue.
Sandusky, O., June 23.—A special election was held in this city yesterday for the purpose of deciding whether $125,000 worth of bonds should be issued for the improvement of the harbor. The question was carried by a vote of 1,600 against 247. The bonds will be sold at once.

Woman Kills Herself.
Columbus, O., June 23.—Anna Taylor, 22, living with her mother, 23 West Fulton street, killed herself by shooting a 38-caliber bullet into her heart. A note addressed to her brother contained the single word, "Disappointed." Only two weeks ago the dead girl had secured a divorce from James Parker, a railroad engineer, and had been restored to her former name. She was engaged to be married to another railroad.

Found Spurious Coin.
Columbus, O., June 23.—Detectives Beard and Owens unearthed in the northwestern part of the city a mine containing 151 spurious dollars, but all efforts to obtain a clue as to the "millers" has proven futile. The coin was turned over to the division chief of the secret service.

Charge Against a Mother.
Portsmouth, O., June 23.—A charge of murdering her own child has been placed against Mrs. Charles McAllister, 28, a widow, of South Portsmouth. A fully matured child was born to her which, it is claimed, she threw down a vault.

STATE COMMITTEE

Is Organized for Campaign—Senator Dick Again the Head of Executive Committee.

Columbus, O., June 23.—The Republican state central committee met here and selected the state executive committee of 52 members to manage the campaign for the re-election of Governor Herrick and the state ticket. The executive committee was organized by election of Senator Charles Dick, Akron, as chairman; John R. Malloy, Columbus, secretary; William F. Burdell, Columbus, treasurer. By unanimous vote the state committee recognized the executive committee of Lawrence county, of which Colonel Henry A. Marting is chairman. This decision was so rendered because a majority of the candidates on the county ticket had signed a petition asking the recognition of the Marting committee and refusing to pay campaign assessments to the Johnson committee or to co-operate with it.

The state committee first decided that the Johnson committee was regular. Then as practical politicians they decided it was useless to recognize a committee with which the candidates would have nothing to do. The official statement of Secretary Walter F. Brown was that all but one of the county candidates had so petitioned, and that this petition was a large factor in the decision. A Romulus Johnson denied the accuracy of this statement, saying three of the county candidates had not signed the petition.

OUTLOOK FOR NEW FACTORY IS BRIGHT

From all indications the movement now on foot to secure a window glass factory and a furnace plant for the West End, will soon result successfully. The men at the head of the movement are working day and night to secure these two industries, that will add much to the general prosperity of the city. A meeting of all persons interested will be held at the Mayor's office, (City Hall building) on Monday night for the purpose of considering the propositions that have been made for the locating of these two industries in Newark.

A well known manufacturing company of Pittsburgh, Pa., has agreed to locate a furnace and foundry in Newark for the manufacture of furnaces and sanitarium apparatus. Instead of asking a bonus from the city, they agree to put up a plant that will cost $25,000 and to employ sixty men at the start, providing they are given five acres of ground, and that our people subscribe for some of the stock. Judging from what can be learned this is one of the best propositions that has yet been submitted to the citizens of Newark.

AT IDLEWILDE PARK

Large Crowds Have Been Enjoying the Barlow Minstrel Show There This Week.

Large crowds have been visiting Idlewilde during the week, and every performance of the Barlow minstrels has been greeted by large audiences. The Minstrels are really pleasing and entertaining. The music is good and well rendered and the jokes are all new. The specialties are refined and serve as fine entertainers. Each deserves special mention, but the one which has attracted the most attention is lively, the contortionist. His work is fine. He is an artist of rare ability in his line, deserving of the highest praise. The program is to be changed during the coming week, commencing Sunday. A large number of theatre parties are visiting the park, and the season promises to be a good one.

Public dancing at Buckeye Lake Park Saturday evening, June 24, from 7:30 until 11:30 p. m. Marsh's full orchestra of ten pieces. Five cents a set. 6-21-11

COMPELLED

The Girl's Parents to Hold Up Their Hands While His Friend Abducted Her.

Sioux City, Ia., June 23.—James Lee secured pretty Lillian Babcock for a bride at Midland, South Dakota, after an adventure that bids fair to rival that of young Lochinvar. He called at the bride's home with the avowed intention of leading her to the altar. He was aware that her parents objected, but as she was of legal age he would not be deterred on that account, and took a friend along to assist in an emergency.

Miss Babcock's father threw him out of the house, whereupon his friend, who was armed with a rifle, compelled both parents to hold up their hands while young Lee escorted the fair Lillian to the buggy.

The trio then drove to Ft. Pierre, where Justice Ferris performed the marriage.

Y. M. C. A. PICNIC AT BUCKEYE LAKE JUNE 30

Mass Meeting of Association Members Will be Held This Evening to Arrange for Big Event.

There will be a mass meeting of the members of the Y. M. C. A. at the Association building this evening at 7:30 o'clock, to appoint the necessary committees, and announce plans and program for the fourth annual Y. M. C. A. picnic at Buckeye Lake, next Friday, June 30.

This event marks the opening of the picnic season at our popular summer resort at the lake. The Y. M. C. A. picnic has come to be the event of the season when thousands of Newark people enjoy a day's outing under the auspices of the local association.

The program this year will be better than ever, being continuous from 2 o'clock until 10 at night. A full new program of water sports, and a baseball game will occupy the afternoon and at supper time a band concert will be given. In the evening there will be athletic contests upon the pavilion.

Special car service will be arranged and the fare for the round trip will be 25 cents. As has been the custom in past years many of the stores will probably close Friday afternoon that all may have the opportunity to enjoy this outing.

HORRIFIED

Crowd Watched the Struggles of the Repentant Suicide as He Was Dashed to Death.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 23.—Distracted by pain, James A. Gibson, 45 years old, a prominent insurance man of Buffalo, ended his life yesterday by leaping into the rapids from Goat Island bridge. Remorseful when he struck the water, Gibson struggled desperately to live. His plunges and gesticulations attracted a crowd, who rushed in every direction for a life line. When the line was finally procured it was thrown over the bridge, but Gibson, weakened by his exertions, loosened his grasp and was swept along in the mad rush of water only a few feet away from the brink of the mighty cataract. The man was tossed onto a rock and, still conscious, he made a last effort to save himself. There was no possibility of a rescue, however, and in a few seconds he was lifted bodily from the bowlder by the current, tossed into the air a few feet and into the falls. His body has not yet been recovered.

Before taking the fatal jump Gibson threw his hat into the water and left his coat on the walk of the bridge. In the coat was found an envelope on the back of which was written: "I stand the aches and pains no longer. I fear that I shall never be well. Let me go before I lose my mind entirely." The note was not addressed to any one.
